Hey Baby

Music:Paniolo Yamaguchi, Hirotsugu KOITA-bashi, Willie Nakao

Lyrics:George Cockle

(Chorus)

Hey baby, are you alone?
Is there somebody coming?
Hey baby, are you alone?
Look at you! You're looking so great!
Hey baby, are you alone?
I can see that this night
This night belongs to love

(Verse A)

For that dress that you're a wearing
Fits too tight like a painting
And your make up's kind of running
A muddy river flowing

(Verse B)

I can tell that someone has once hurt you girl
Glad it wasn't me
Let me be the one to tell you girl
Don't be lonely now

(Chorus)

Hey baby, are you alone?
Is there somebody coming?
Hey baby, are you alone?
Look at you! You're looking so great!
Hey baby, are you alone?
I can see that this night
This night belongs to love

(Verse A2)

Bee hive hairdo looks outdated
And it's a bit too yellow
And your house I'm sure ain't gated
You must serve purple Jell-O

(Verse B2)

Broken nails and your red nail polish

Looks all right to me
It's cracked and chipped like a thrown out dish
Let me fix it now

(Verse C)

I can see she is lonely
Should I also be lonely?
Got to find a way to say
Come with me tonight

(Chorus)

Hey baby, are you alone?
Is there somebody coming?
Hey baby, are you alone?
Look at you! You're looking so great!
Hey baby, are you alone?
I can see that this night
This night belongs to love
Hey baby, are you alone?
Is there somebody coming?
Hey baby, are you alone?
Look at you! You're looking so great!
Hey baby, are you alone?
Can you see that this night?
This night belongs to love
