

Evening Train / Chiharu Konnos

Tears

Music: Yasuhiro Yamauchi

Lyrics: George Cockle

Are those tears
That are misting up your eyes?
Is that fear
That you try to disguise
All the days that are coming
I won't be there by your side

Does it burn?
Feel the burning deep inside
It's your turn
Don't forget how I cried
All the tears that's gonna fall
No longer will they be mine

You come crawling back to me
Oh my baby can't you see
This ship has sailed
And won't be back no more
They say chances come but once
And this time it's all been lost

So start anew
But not with me
Those new tears won't be mine
Tears will fall
Let them fall just where they might
Tears will fall
Let them fall through the night
Let them come like a hurricane
And fall down to the sea

Tears will fall
Let them fall just where they might
Tears will fall
Let them fall through the night
Let them come like a hurricane
And fall down to the sea

You come crawling back to me
Oh my baby can't you see
This ship has sailed
And won't be back no more
You know chances come but once
And this time it's all been lost

So start anew
But not with me
Those new tears won't be mine

You come crawling back to me
Oh my baby can't you see
This ship has sailed
And won't be back no more
They say chances come but once
And this time it's all been lost

So start anew
But not with me
Those new tears won't be mine

Are those tears
That are misting up your eyes?
Is that fear
That you try to disguise
All the days that are coming
I won't be there by your side